

Heather Hatcher

Heather A. Hatcher, JD, MPH, CHPRM is an Associate Counsel at New York City Health and Hospitals Corporation, where she serves as claims counsel helping to oversee the defense of medical malpractice actions against the system and is a policy advisor on proposed legislation and quality initiatives and an Adjunct Faculty member at Monroe College. She has also held positions as an Assistant District Attorney in Bronx County and in the Special Education Litigation Unit of the NYC Department of Education. She earned her Bachelor of Arts from Williams College (History and Political Science), her J.D. at Fordham University School of Law, and Master of Public Health from the Johns Hopkins University Bloomberg School of Public Health. She is a member of the Delta Omega Honorary Society in Public Health. Ms. Hatcher is co-chair of the New York City Bar Association Health Law Committee, a member of various professional organizations, including the American Public Health Association, New York State Public Health Association, the American Society for Health Care Risk Management, the American Health Lawyers Association, the American Bar Association, and the New York State Bar Association. She is admitted to practice law in New York State, as well as before the Eastern and Southern Districts of New York Federal Courts and the U.S. Supreme Court.